

Lanzarote

An Island of Magic!

"This was our first visit to the island and we thoroughly enjoyed ourselves. The villa itself was extremely well equipped and we would not hesitate to recommend it to friends".

Dennis Cypher, Exeter

The Island

The most easterly of the Canary Islands leads Lanzarote to have the driest climate of them all with a temperature which varies very little all year round. Just an hour and a quarter drive top to bottom, the island has many interesting facets and it is listed as an UNESCO world heritage site. The island of Lanzarote's development has been overseen by one of its most famous sons, the architect Cesar Manrique. His sculptures and art are found in many parts of the island and it is his legacy which has led to low rise and thoughtful design of all buildings on the island and in particular in Playa Blanca. It's comfortable climate and aesthetic qualities make the island of Lanzarote an enjoyable place to visit whatever the time of year.

Landscape

Lanzarote is entirely unique in having been created by the volcanic activity of various active periods in years past. The area known as 'Montanas del Fuego' or Fire Mountain is where the lunar qualities of the land are most prevalent and, due to its delicate ecological state, is a national park. This careful preservation allows the visitor to experience the tranquillity and unrivalled beauty of its many colours. The lava flows and ash have in turn created the unique style vineyards of the La Geria wine growing area. This leads on to the old capital of Teguise, rising up to the town of a thousand palms, Haria, which then gives way to the incredible views of the mirador del Rio looking over the island of La Graciosa.

The Resort of Playa Blanca

Situated at the southern most tip, Playa Blanca enjoys on average the most hours of sunlight. The original village charm and character has been retained due to considerate development. As well as shops, restaurants and beaches, PB boasts a small harbour from where the Fuerteventura ferry departs as well as the outstanding new Marina Rubicon which is used for pleasure craft. Local fishermen still land their catch in PB to supply local restaurants.

Beaches

The beautiful beaches of Papagayo are only a few miles away, accessible by tracks or by boat from Playa Blanca harbour. Glass Bottomed boats and submarines can also take you to view the abundant sea life which surrounds the island, dwelling in some of the cleanest waters in the world. Other beaches are close by in the village including Dorada and Flamingo beaches which are great for families to relax, having calm, shallow waters.

Facilities, Sports and Nightlife

The village of Playa Blanca has plenty of shops and restaurants, making this ideal for the self catering holiday maker. All the quality facilities you will need are available here along with playgrounds, bike hire, and water sports such as pedaloes, windsurfing, and boat hire. There is an excellent aqua park in Playa Blanca too.

Golf is available at Tias and Costa Teguisse. Nightlife is family friendly in PB although live music and disco bars are available. For nightclubs there are more available in Puerto del Carmen.

Live entertainment is provided at Las Brisas in the bar most nights too and is family friendly –suitable for all.
